nts at another rate cut oraise for government the transmission is taking place in a much shorter period of about 2/3 months."

In the last monetary policy review in June, Das said out of total 50bps rate cut by the central bank, 21bps has been passed on to the consumers.

He said the surplus liquidity

Das termed

the budget proposal to infuse

₹70,000 cr of capital into state-

run banks a positive development in the system currently will help in better transmission. "I would say, in coming weeks and months, we would see better transmission taking place. This is a matter that we constantly review in RBI and do whatever is required to be done," he said.

On government incentives to banks to fund non-banking financial companies (NBFCs). Descridit is for the banks to back up the banks if individual banks require additional liquidity," he said.

Sitharaman announced in the budget that the government will provide a one-time six months partial credit guarantee to state-run banks for the acquisition of up to El trillion of highlyrated assets from NBFCs.

Das also praised the proposal to infuse ₹70,000 crore of capital into staterun banks in the budget. "It is a very positive development because it will not only enable banks to maintain the capital they need to comply with regulatory requirements, but also give enough capital to banks to step un their lending and the credit
